Towards international Safety Data Sheet exchange

7th BDI-Workshop on SDScom

With ECHA and other authorities focusing on data quality, electronic processing of chemical information is the only efficient way to proceed. SDScom covers this with a long-term support concept to ensure a stable ground for cost-effective implementations, while future SDScom versions focus on regulatory compliance with an international scope. During the workshop, the participants will collect and prioritize requirements and launch a new technical working group - your participation is welcome! Reports from users round up a day that will create a clear picture of upcoming changes and necessary actions for improved supply chain efficiency.
